CLEAN AND GREEN

The Mathematics Department has conducted "Clean and Green" program to promote sustainability on campus. As part of this initiative, students and faculty are encouraged to reduce waste, recycle materials, and minimize energy consumption. The department has set up recycling bins across campus and organized clean-up drives to keep the environment tidy. Additionally, there are efforts to incorporate green technologies into lab setups, making experiments eco-friendlier. Educational seminars are held to raise awareness about environmental issues and the importance of conservation. The program also includes tree planting activities to enhance the campus's green spaces. This initiative underscores the department's dedication to creating an environmentally responsible community.
